I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord;
who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried;
he descended into hell; the third day he rose again from the dead;
he ascended into heaven,
and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty;
from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.
I believe in the Holy Ghost; the holy catholic church;
the communion of saints; the forgiveness of sins;
the resurrection of the body; and the life everlasting. Amen.

~ The Apostles' Creed

PRAYERS OF THE PEOPLE AND THE LORD'S PRAYER

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

OFFERING AND OFFERTORY ANTHEM

E.E. Ferguson

Two Shaker Songs ("Simple Gifts" and "I Will Bow")

'Tis the gift to be simple, 'tis the gift to be free, 'tis the gift to come down where we ought to be, and when we find ourselves in the place just right, 'twill be in the valley of love and delight. When true simplicity is gained, to bow and to bend we shan't be ashamed, to turn, turn will be our delight 'till by turning, turning we come round right. I will bow and be simple, I will bow and be free, I will bow and be humble, bow like the willow tree. I will bow, I will wear the easy yoke, I will bow and be broken, yea, I'll fall upon the rock.
I will bow this is the token.

*Please fill in the Fellowship Register at the end of your pew;
pass it down your row and back again.*

- † DOXOLOGY (in unison) (Hymnal 606)

TODAY'S PRELUDE

Thirty-five years after his death, Samuel Barber (1910-1981) remains one of the best-known and most-performed American composers of the 20th century. His Adagio for Strings has become a staple of elegiac music, an American anthem of loss and grief.

Barber naturally displayed his talent for composition early in life, composing an operetta (The Rose Tree) when he was only seven years old. At the tender age of fourteen, Barber attended the Curtis Institute of Music during the school's inaugural year 1924. He immediately gained the attention of the Institute's founder, Mary Curtis Bok, who became his patron and advocate.

He quickly gained international acclaim, and the young composer received many prizes and honors. In 1937, just four years after his graduation from the Curtis Institute, Barber's Symphony in One Movement was the first American work to be performed at the Salzburg Festival. He received two Pulitzer prizes, and he was the first American composer to be invited to the biennial Congress of Soviet Composers in Moscow in 1962.

Barber's Adagio for Strings has been his most enduring work, and many consider it to be the most popular, most frequently performed work of the 20th century. In 1938 it was premiered by Arturo Toscanini conducting the NBC Orchestra in a live radio broadcast. Millions of American listeners immediately identified with the piece—the United States was striving to recover from the Great Depression, and the threat of Nazi power was forcing Europe into another worldwide conflict. Many considered the premier of the Adagio to be the most crucial moment in American orchestral history because its fitting somberness realistically illustrated the outlook of an economically injured country facing the threat of another gruesome war. Over time, the Adagio has been performed during solemn moments in U.S. history as an expression of national grief: it was famously broadcast in 1945 after the announcement of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's death, and in 2001, was performed in remembrance of the victims of the September 11 attacks.

The transcribed score for the Adagio for Strings, with the melodies played by the hands and the countermelodies by the feet, creates a great unresolved harmonic tension that leaves the listener in emotional depths.
