

MARGOT STEIN

MFT, MHL

Margot Stein is a marriage and family therapist dedicated to helping individuals and families find healing and harmony on their journey toward wholeness. A member of the clergy, she has two decades of experience working with children, adolescents and adults with special needs and processing difficulties, with complex medical issues, and with nontraditional family structures, gender and identity exploration. Clients and their families experience an increased ability to care for and accept themselves as they identify and work toward desired areas of growth and change. Margot's warmth, humor and resilient approach to meeting life's challenges create a highly supportive environment in which to discover new possibilities.

SPECIALTY AREAS

- Children, Adolescents and Young Adults with Special Needs
- Communication
- Depression and Anxiety
- Life Transitions
- Parenting
- LGBTQ, Gender and Women's Issues
- Veterans, Active Military, and Their Families

